

Services

Mahatma Gandhi University, Purba Medinipur provides a wide range of academic and student-oriented services aimed at promoting quality higher education and overall development. The University offers postgraduate teaching programmes in disciplines such as Humanities and Basic Sciences through its various departments.

In addition to teaching, the University emphasizes research and academic development by organizing seminars, workshops, and lectures, thereby encouraging scholarly engagement among students and faculty.

The University provides essential academic support services, including library facilities, and computer laboratories to enhance learning and research activities.

For student welfare and administration, it maintains various functional units such as grievance redressal cell, equal opportunity cell, anti-ragging committee & extracurricular activities, ensuring a supportive environment.

Additionally, the University offers digital and information services like online notifications, results, digital library resources, and admission management systems to facilitate smooth academic administration.

Overall, the University aims to deliver quality education, and provide student-centric services to contribute to societal and national development.